Your Offsite Backup is only as good as the company standing behind it!

If you Google offsite backup, you'll probably find a thousand companies that offer this service. But who can you really trust? Think of it like picking an insurance company. When disaster strikes would you rather call your agent that knows your account and knows exactly what to do to expedite your claim or would you rather to talk to someone in a call center you've never met that has no vested interest in easing your pain?

That's where we come in. We are that friendly voice that assures you that it will be ok and that we'll do whatever it takes to get you back up and running after a disaster. The moment you contact us we work diligently to get you what you need. We don't just give you access to your data and say "Have a nice day". We're there to work with you, your software vendors, and your network vendors to get you back running. If it's a total server loss, we can even load your software on our ASP and get you back in business faster than ordering new hardware.

We offer everything the competition does and more that they don't. Rest assured that night or day, when disaster strikes we are there prepared to help. Call us today and let us show you how we can fill the missing piece in your disaster recovery plan.
